

Hi Nathan,

How are you...?

Sorry, it took me a while to get back.

Just a few small changes and I think that would be fine for now. I can be with you doing this if you like, whatever suits... I can meet you or Tel. call, whatever is easier.... And its Friday, no rush. Some of it I can't make up my mind so whatever you think is fine.

Backed by a 12-year Guarantee on both the outer cover and inner lining. Built to support your child from their earliest playdays to their teenage years. Cover can easily be removed for washing. Every few years beeds could do with topping up and most people never top up.

About Julie Page

Change to the part underlined

A friend of Julie's, working as an occupational therapist, was having real difficulty sourcing suitable sensory products locally. Julie started experimenting. She had the sewing skill, and as an early childhood teacher she had spent years watching how children use movement and play to explore their physical capabilities and make sense of the world around them.

Forest green

Maybe that rainbow blanket is fine. This is just another one as I don't have the rainbow print anymore

Is this picture okay or peculiar? Keep the rainbow one if better.

Instead of the picture under weighted blankets laps and snakes if you could put in the above one instead

All pink long 108cm x 21cm - 5lb

Turquoise Lycra/fleece 90cm x 19cm – 4lb

Fleece or Lycra how they compare change

Instead of Fleece 'limited stretch' see change in red

Fleece (Medium stretch) Lycra (high stretch)

Best used for....

Gentle gradual Sink-in Instant Deep Sink-in

Flops

Care and washing beanbag

Fleece

Remove second and third sentences instead put in...

The cover is easily removed for washing

Medium beanbag can be washed in your washing machine and tumble dried as one unit. Beeds stay in the bag during the washing and drying process

lycra

Remove "lycra can be washed on its own"

Care and washing weighted items

Insert 'soaking overnight or hand washing'

Trial a beanbag for two weeks

The idea of trailing a product was suggested to me in 2025 by a secondary school. I began the process in Spring 2026 with that school and several more and it has proved to be a very successful endeavour ever since.

Both teacher and student get to inspect and engage with the product in their own time. It's difficult to convey how substantial and user friendly these sensory products are from a website photo.

Let me know if you're interested in trailing a beanbag and or lap pad for two weeks ?

Calm Focus and regulation ---- in one product

This beanbag gives children deep pressure input that helps with:

- Body regulation and calming during transitions or anxious moments
- Spatial awareness and proprioceptive feedback
- A tactile, engaging tool that keeps students settled and focused during sessions

Handmade in Cork since 2002, CE approved, and already trusted by OTs across Ireland — including Sinead Moynihan, a Paediatric OT in Cork, who says:

"...from an occupational therapist perspective, Sensory Beanbags is the place to buy your sensory beanbags and weighted products, as they come with high standards and an in-depth understanding of how to meet sensory needs.

"I'd love you to try it with your students for two weeks — no obligation.

If it works as well for you as it does for other practices, I'd ask two things: consider it for your own practice and pass my details to any families who'd benefit at home.

I'll call back in two weeks to hear how it went.

Reference to add

We've been using a bean bag and a selection of weighted blankets from Sensory Products with our students over the past couple of months, and they've made a real difference. The quality is excellent – everything feels well-made and built to last, which is so important in a busy classroom. We chose a fleece bean bag, and it's incredibly comfortable. It's become a go-to spot for one student in particular when they need some time to regulate. The weighted blankets have also been a great addition – they come in a lovely range of sizes and textures, and our students really enjoyed being able to choose their favourites when Julie visited. Overall, I'd highly recommend Sensory Products. The items we purchased have quickly become a valued and well-used part of our ASD classroom resources. Lycra price 15 euro more instead of 20 euro on large and xlarge

XXX Large beanbag 415 instead of 425

SBB logo I looked for the WhatsApp message I first got from the person that send me a sample logo. It was the same image I received as I send you. It was several years ago. I probably would need to follow up with her for the correct image, but I can leave it for now.

15 year guarantee. Can't decide whether to put 12 or 15. In reality they haven't broken in 21 years... maybe one or two. Stitching is reinforced. Whichever sounds believable....

The photo under title the photo you have there is fine, child reading a book
